The contents of the report and map should not be considered final. The interpretation of units. Data depicted on this geologic quadrangle map are based on reconnaissance field work in the region. The contents of the report and map should not be considered final may result in erroneous interpretations. Site-specific conditions should be verified by interpretation. The contents of the report and map should not be considered final...